

Bankruptcy myths.

Bankruptcy is a mystery to many people and plenty of myths have grown up around the legal process. Here are some common misunderstandings along with the facts.

Myth #1 – I'll lose my house!

- When you file for bankruptcy an automatic stay goes into effect immediately that directs all of your creditors to stop collection, repossession and foreclosure activities.
- A Chapter 13 bankruptcy will help you keep your home, vehicle and other assets even if you are behind on payments.
 - A Chapter 7 bankruptcy can delay foreclosure for a number of months giving you time to find alternative accommodation and move.

Myth #2 – I'll lose everything!

- Most people who file bankruptcy don't lose anything except their debts. And they gain a fresh financial start.
- In Virginia there are many personal exemptions in bankruptcy that protect including:
 - Your household items and furnishings

- IRA's and 401(k) retirement plans
- Vehicle
- Personal injury claims

- In a Chapter 13 bankruptcy you keep everything you have in exchange for paying your creditors some or all of what they are owed in a repayment plan.

Myth #3 – My credit will be ruined forever!

- For most people, by the time they file bankruptcy, their credit is already in bad shape.
- A Chapter 7 (liquidation) bankruptcy is typically on your credit report for 10 years.
- A Chapter 13 (reorganization) bankruptcy is typically on your credit report for seven years.
- In fact your credit score will eventually improve because bankruptcy gets rid of debt. You'll be in a better position to handle credit and this makes you look more attractive to lenders. It's not uncommon to get offers for new credit cards, car loans and the like after a bankruptcy.
- After bankruptcy you can immediately begin rebuilding your credit.

Myth #4 – I don't need an attorney to file bankruptcy!

- You can file bankruptcy on your own. It's called pro se – an individual filing without an attorney.
- Virtually all pro se Chapter 13 filings in Virginia fail.
- If your case is dismissed (or failed), foreclosure, repossession and collection activities can be immediately restarted against you.

- You may not be able to refile bankruptcy.
